DEFINITIONS

- According to Psychology Today, the bystander effect occurs when the presence of others discourages an individual from intervening in an emergency situation, against a bully, or during an assault or other crime.
- The opposite of being a bystander, is being an upstander. According to The Bully Project, an upstander is someone who recognizes when something is wrong and acts to make it right.
- Let's practice this concept for a moment.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

- If a fellow student were livestreaming a fight in which several students were attacking another, and you saw that 100 people were watching the video, what would you do?

THE 5Ds TO INTERVENE

- Distract - pretending to know the person being harassed, dropping a drink near the harasser, etc.
- Delegate - asking a nearby authority figure for help.
- Delay - checking in with the harassed person afterward.
- Direct - verbally confronting the harasser.
- Document - recording video of the incident.

SCENARIO 1

Outside a restaurant, you overhear a guy getting mad at a girl and he calls her a slut.

SCENARIO 2

You go to a party of another chapter that has their new members there and they are forcing them to drink alcohol.

SCENARIO 3

You are at a football tailgate when the friend of another chapter member starts yelling derogatory slurs at a near-by group of fans from the opposite team.

SCENARIO 4

You and a friend are walking home from the bars and you see a girl who seems pretty intoxicated. You notice two guys trying to hit on her.
