

SCENARIO 2

- Brother Stevenson has been having conversations with the chapter president about his disinterest in remaining in the fraternity. He's only a sophomore, and he doesn't feel like what he's getting out of his experience is "worth" what he's paying in dues. He has stated that he'd like to know the process, and his options, for either "going inactive" for next semester or "dropping" altogether.

Complainant

You are a sophomore in the chapter who was very excited when you joined your freshman year, but you aren't really feeling the benefit of being in the chapter.

You don't necessarily want to drop, but you don't feel like you're getting out of the experience what was promised to you when you joined.

You aren't currently holding any positions in the chapter, and you just attend meetings and required events. You have some friends in the chapter, but not anyone you're super close with.

You want your experience to change but aren't sure how to go about changing it.

If it doesn't work out, you want to know what your options are or what it would mean if you wanted to leave the chapter.
